

KIFARU

LEWA WILDLIFE CONSERVANCY

Facts

Situated on the northern foothills of Mt Kenya, Kifaru House is set on the 65,000 acre privately owned Lewa Wildlife Conservancy. Kifaru, the Swahili word for rhino, is the dream realized by one of Lewa Conservancy's donors. A private villa built with no compromise in quality or comfort by a unique individual. Kifaru is hosted by Clare Moller and a team of dedicated and well-trained guides, staff and rangers. All income generated by Kifaru is directly reinvested into wildlife conservation and local community development programs.

Accommodation

Six double rooms with ensuite bathrooms. Each cottage has large windows looking out on stunning views and furnished with beautiful colonial style furniture with canopied double beds, ensuite baths and private verandahs.

Power is generated by solar power and backed up by an inverter and runs all day.

Hair dryers can be used

Phone and Camera batteries can be charged in the rooms

There is a stereo and mini fridge in every room

House Amenities

The living area is as spacious as the vast plains it overlooks. With a comfortable sitting area around a huge fireplace, it is the perfect spot for conversation after a day filled with adventure.

The dining area includes a spectacular table crafted from ancient dhow wood plus an inviting fireplace.

Kifaru has a swimming pool which looks out towards Mt. Kenya.
